Selected Story.

A SEA STORY.

It was in the year 1779. The red sun had just come up out of the Atlantic, and now brightened the slightly rippled waters of Salem harbor. The sails of the Tyrannicide, privateer, Capt. Seawaif, had been loosed, her cable hove short and she only waited the turn of the tide to commence her cruise.

She was, for that era, astonishingly clipperish, raking in spars, sharp in hull, and calculated for carrying an astonishing quantity of canvass. Her rig was that of a two-topsail schooner, her lower masts being long and heavy, so as to carry large fore-and-aft sails. Her burden appeared to be about 300 tons. She was pierced for eight 24-pound carronades on a side; a long, brass 32-pounder, on a pivot, shone bright as bold between her masts, mounted high enough to work her hammock nettings. Around her masts could be seen the gleam of boarding-spikes and battle-axes. At her mainmast a blood-red flag floated out, bearing the motto, "Death to Tyrants!" At the maintruck another red flag bore the name of the schooner, "The Tyrannicide." Her figurehead was a serpent striking his fang into the heart of a man who wore a crown. Taking her altogether, she was indeed a dangerous and saucy-looking craft, calculated to both sail and fight well. Upon her deck many men could be seen, showing that, if she had "teeth" she had also strength to use them.

All of her boats had hoisted upon the captain's gig, and the officers were watching the tide very impatiently for its return.

Presently Seawaif appeared at the end of the wharf. The young captain sprang into his boat amid the applause of hundreds of citizens who had gathered there to see the privateer go to sea, and in a few moments he was on board his vessel.

With a clear, bugle-like voice which needed no trumpet, the young commander shouted:

"Man the capstan bars, lads, and run the anchor up with a will. Stand by the jib and flying-jib halyards—lay the head-yards aback!"

His orders were obeyed readily; and in a few moments the second officer, who stood on the fore-castle looking over the bows, cried:

"She's broken ground, sir!"

"Very well, sir. Run the jib and flying-jib and haul the sheets to the star-board! Man the top-gallant and top-sail and halyards! Round with the capstan, men, and run the anchor up the bows!"

A moment later, and the head-sails up, the veering bow of the schooner proved her to be all awigh; and then came the order:

"Sheet home, and hoist away top-sails and top-gallant sails!"

This was done; and, as the fore-and-aft sails, already up, filed, the schooner began to gather headway. Then, as she fell off before the wind, which was far out of the harbor, her square sails filled and she shot ahead with increasing velocity. The crowd on shore, looking with delight at the splendid vessel, and gladdened, too, at the thought of her errand, rent the air with cheers.

Never was a craft in better battle trim on deck, below, or aloft, than the privateer, after Seawaif had got her rigging stretched. Conscious that he was ready for any foe of his tonnage and weight of metal, he boldly headed off from the coast for the track of the inward-bound vessels from England.

One morning soon after he was at breakfast in his cabin, with the first officer and the doctor—young Morly, the second officer, being in charge on deck.

But each of them bounded from the table as he heard the shout, "Sail, ho!" from the lookout at the top-gallant cross-trees.

"Where away, and what does she look like?" cried young Morly, in reply.

Seawaif and his companions held their breath and listened to the answer.

"I see three sails, sir, dead ahead; they seem square-rigged, and coming right down before the wind," was the reply.

"Englishmen, and making for the coast, I'll wager my first prize money?" said the captain, as he hurried on deck.

"John Bull's men, by gar—I shall get my instruments ready for amputation!" cried the delighted doctor, a Frenchman.

"So will I," said Mr. Doolittle, the first officer, as he buckled on his sharp but short cutlass, and followed his commander on deck.

The breeze was fresh, and the schooner, with only her lower sails and topsails set, was going off to the eastward on a taut bowline, her top-gallant and royal yards-pointed to the wind, and her larboard tacks abroad. There was quite a heavy sea rolling, and as she pitched into and threw it, she threw the snowy foam over her prow almost as high as her fore-top.

"See all clear for action, fore and aft! Reef preventer stays and braces! Have the spars cleared away! Gunners, look to your children; they may have play soon! Boarders and pike-men, see that your tools are in their places!" cried the captain, cheerfully, as he came on deck; and then he seized a spy-glass and scanned the vessel in sight.

"What do you make out, sir, if you please?" asked Mr. Doolittle, whose hopes for work and prize-money were now on the rise.

"I see six vessels; but they are yet too far off to make out whether they are armed or not," was the reply.

"Shall the gunner open the magazine, sir?"

"Yes, after the galley fires are put out."

The men went to their work and their respective stations quietly, but with a cheerful look, which betokened perfect confidence in their vessel, and especially in their officers.

An hour passed, and the vessels were hull-up-ahead, yet Capt. Seawaif gave no order either to alter her course or shorten her sail.

"What about our colors, sir?" asked the lieutenant.

"You can run 'em up in rolls to their places, ready to pull when I order it, Mr. Doolittle," said the captain, still keeping his glass directed toward the approaching ship.

The enemy was now rising fast, not more than four or five miles off; but the merchantman, obeying signals from the sloop-of-war, which had evidently discovered the nationality of the schooner by her rig, hauled on a wind and shortsail, while the man-of-war held on her course under a cloud of canvas.

"Take your stations for working ship?" cried Seawaif.

The men bounded to the sheets and braces.

"Hard up the helm, ease off the sheets and round in the weather braces!" cried the captain.

"Tarnal thunder! you're not going to run from one sloop-of-war, are you sir?" asked the lieutenant, in agonized wonder.

"Get out and rig two spars with iron enough to sink them, for drags, drop one over each quarter, and ask no impertinent questions, Mr. Doolittle," said the captain.

"I beg your pardon, sir, a hundred times; I thought you were going to run!" said the now delighted officer as he hastened to obey the order.

"Double-shot with grape and cannister—gunners to your stations!" cried the captain, now determinedly. "Men make no noise when I announce it, but within an hour that sloop-of-war shall strike her flag, or we'll go down with ours flying! When she is taken the merchantmen will be easy prizes."

Had they not been cautioned the men would have cheered so loudly as to be heard on board of the sloop-of-war.

After the drags were rigged and lowered over the side, held by stout hawsers, and not seen because sunk beneath the water, the schooner did not go more than three knots although—under a full spread of canvas—she seemed to be running away from her antagonist, which now could be seen coming up hand-over-hand, her decks crowded with men, and her ports showing a battery of twenty-four guns.

On she came, the red cross of St. George flaunting from her peak, until she was within nearly a mile of the schooner, when she fired a shot from one of her bow guns.

"Show them our colors and name!" cried the young captain, while his pale face flushed with a smile of terrible joy.

It was done in an instant, but the vessel's head was not changed, nor a sail touched.

Rapidly the Englishman closed up, heading a little to leeward, so as to range under her larboard beam.

"Couch well behind the bulwarks, men, stand by your larboard guns, but do not touch a match until the order comes from my lips; depress your guns so as to take her between wind and water! Sail-trimmers, stand to your sheets and braces, and be ready for orders."

These orders given, Captain Seawaif took his position on the larboard side the quarter deck, and with ill-concealed delight saw the Englishman range along until he was almost abeam.

"Haul down your colors, or I'll sink you! Strike, you Yankee rebel, strike!" shouted the English captain, who stood on the poop of his vessel in full uniform, steadying himself by holding to the mizzen rigging.

"I'm going to strike—not my colors, but you," cried Seawaif sarcastically, instantly giving the order to pour in his whole broadside.

It was done with terrible effect, for the British had not anticipated resistance from a rebel whom they supposed to be using his best efforts to escape, and were huddled along the deck on the side next the schooner, and were cut down in fearful swaths. And as the sails were little injured, the sloop-of-war shot ahead, so that she was past the schooner, before she could return the broadside.

"Cut away the drags, spring to your starboard battery—throw in chain shot as well as grape—and cut her sticks away!" cried Seawaif.

Then ordering the helm up, as the schooner's headway increased, he veered athwart the stern of the sloop, and, as the guns came in range, delivered a raking fire, which not only swept her decks, but, cutting away her masts, clipped her completely.

He then hauled on a wind, determined to pepper until she would "strike," and not wishing to lose any men at close quarters if he could help it. But he had no occasion to use his guns any more, for suddenly with a shock which shook the sea and air like an earthquake, the ill-fated craft was seen to fly in fragments, amid a cloud of smoke, into the air.

Whether by accident or design no one could tell, but in some way the powder in the magazine had been ignited, and she was blown to atoms.

Prompted by humanity, Capt. Seawaif ordered the helm up, and steered for the spot where the sloop-of-war had been, in hopes to save some surviving portion of her crew.

But not a living soul could be seen. A few blackened spars and timbers only met the eye.

THE PRESS EXCURSIONISTS.

Our account last week left the "press gang" about ready to take dinner at Camp Kennebago, by invitation of Supt. Packard. Capt. Barker's steamer Oquossoc took the party from Haines Landing to Indian Rock, where Mr. Packard and his estimable lady were met and graciously received their company. The various and commodious buildings were thrown open and the "freedom of the city" extended. Some members of the party, while viewing the rooms, desired to place a thistle in the bed of Rowell, the advertising ag't, to remind him of his "latter end." The generous supply of iced lemonade was highly appreciated with the thermometer 'way up. At a proper hour the summons was given "to dinner," and the guests paraded themselves for a grand onslaught on the following inviting

BILL OF FARE.

Fish—Fried Trout.

Roast—Beef, Spring Lamb with Mint Sauce.

Entrees—Baked Macaroni with Cheese, Lamb Chops with Green Peas.

Sauces—Strawberry, Currant Jelly. Vegetables—Mashed Potatoes, Sweet Corn, Stewed Tomatoes, Green Peas.

Dessert—Peach Pie, Crackers, Cheese, Tea and Coffee.

After-dinner speeches were in order, but the speaking apparatus of the speakers was not in condition for much speaking after a square meal, yet a hearty vote of thanks was returned the O. A. A. for the glorious dinner and opportunity to visit the historic spot and their charming retreat. Till six o'clock the party lounged and strolled about the camp and then returned to headquarters; but not till cheers had been given the host and hostess—a host in themselves—and a speech was made by the colored cook in response to complimentary remarks. It was the best speech of the occasion.

The evening was more quietly observed than usual, for the day had been warm and its duties fatiguing.

A solitary trout was taken Friday morning, as the morning before, by members of the party, though but one was prepared for fishing. The day was spent lazily, by the men, and by the ladies in preparing for an evening's entertainment, as it was to be their last night on the lakes.—Invitations were extended to camps Kennebago, Houghton and Haverhill, the latter returning thanks and regrets on a tasty bit of birch bark, embellished with a pen sketch of lake scenery, and tied with a ribbon. A curtain was arranged on the front of the piazza, while the audience gathered in convenient groups in front.—A huge bon-fire was built and served for foot-lights. But here comes the Cinnamon bear and "bearer," direct from the woods:

After the bear had sung himself hoarse, and took to the woods, Blue Beard's Wives were exhibited in hideous array, suspended by the hair, ghastly and yet beautiful. Homan and Rich murdered Hamlet's ghost in fine style, both appearing in the second scene with immense bouquets in their hands. The grand sale of statues provoked much mirth. The Dutch Doll, contributed by the Massachusetts antic-quarian, was immense. Seeing the Elephant was followed by shadow pantomimes and closed with a representation of the phonograph, or talking machine, it being represented by a coffee-mill setting upon a covered table, and beneath which Col. A. reproduced songs and perpetrated jokes upon those who talked into the tunnel.

An Indian war-dance and death-song lulled the woods and bears to sleep, but the mosquitoes piped their bloodthirsty notes till morning dawned. Then the departure for Andover occurred (Saturday). Many kind words were said of landlord Richardson and his pleasant accommodations, all expressing themselves greatly pleased with their brief sojourn and the perfect freedom so generously accorded them. We stood on the wharf and voted them a jolly crowd as we waved them adieu and wrung cold tears from a well-used handkerchief.

By the Lewiston Journal we learn they enjoyed a pleasant reception at Camp Whitney on Mollychunkamunk Lake, and dinner at the Angler's Retreat. They arrived at Andover at six o'clock and were given a public reception in the evening. Monday morning the party departed for home, where we hope they arrived safely and refreshed by a week among the woods and lakes of Franklin county.

The Coast of Maine.

A writer in the Boston Advertiser, preliminary to describing the island of Campobello, says of the coast of Maine:

Nobody can doubt, after the experience of the past ten years, that the coast of Maine, rough and dangerous to mariners as it is, will ultimately be the grand seaside summer resort of America. Atlantic City, Cape May, Long Branch, Coney Island, Newport, Martha's Vineyard, Nantasket, Nahant, Cape Ann and other scattered resorts will have their partisans in abundance beyond question; their several attractions are not to be disputed.—But after all they are only oases in a desert. Already most of the eligible situations for summer homes by the seaside, from the southern shore of New Jersey to a point far up on the New England coast, have been taken up. Even the shore of Maine, as far as Portland, is well occupied. York Beach, Kennebunk and Old Orchard are illustrations of large and rapid growth in recent years. But the most attractive part of the coast, to such as love picturesque scenery, lies between Portland and the entrance to the Bay of Fundy. There is nothing like it upon the Atlantic coast. The deep indentations of the mainland, partly filled in by thousands of rocky islands, give a wild beauty to every mile of the distance, from Casco Bay to Eastport. The wonderful success of Mount Desert, where nature has been prodigal of her treasures of rugged beauty, is but the first of a series. As wealth increases it is inevitable that the fashion of owning a cottage by the sea and of residing in it during the summer months, will grow. At present a very large majority of cottage owners and of visitors at seaside hotels, are citizens of the states skirting the coast; but it will not be many years before they will be crowded by new comers from the interior of the country. In short, no limits can be set to the tide of seaward travel a score of years hence; and fortunately there is ample room for all who can come upon the bold and picturesque coast to the east of Portland.

ITCHING PILES—SYMPTOMS AND CURE. The symptoms are moisture, like perspiration, intense itching, increased by scratching, very distressing, particularly at night, as if pin worms were crawling in and about the rectum; the private parts are sometimes affected; if allowed to continue very serious results may follow. CAMPS BEMIS!

Ten in number, are pleasantly situated on the shore of Mooselookmeguntic Lake (of the Rangeley group), at the entrance of Bemis Stream. Each Camp is built of logs and lined with birch-bark and has a sitting-room with a large brick fireplace, and one or two sleeping-rooms. The latter are supplied with patent spring beds and good mattresses. Here the sportsman is near as good fishing and hunting as anywhere in the Rangeley Region. Within a three-mile walk are the four ponds, famous for their trout; and Metallock Pond, abundant in ducks, and frequented by deer. Steamer "Oquossoc" will make daily trips to camp, from Indian Rock and Upper Dam. The steamer "Cupsuntic" will run up to Cupsuntic Falls on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, to accommodate Farmachenee travel. Board at Camps Bemis—two dollars per day. Ten dollars per week through July and August. Capt. FRED C. BARKER, Manager.

Summer Drinks.

In extremely warm weather, refreshing beverages are very desirable, especially where one is exposed to the scorching heat of the sun, and the whole system is perspiring with the heat and exercise. It is very imprudent to swallow great quantities of ice-cold drink when one is excessively warm; a few swallows, taken slowly, will quench the thirst far better than a whole gobletful swallowed without stopping. The very best of all drinks is new milk with ice sufficient to cool it. It is not only cooling, but nourishing. It is a most grateful beverage, not only in the field, but in the kitchen and nursery as well as in the sick room, where it should always have a place. In fevers it is the most delightful cordial that can be administered. A very nice beverage is made by taking two quarts of water, a tablespoonful of pulverized ginger, half a teacupful of strong vinegar and half a teacupful of molasses or maple sugar. Stir well, add a lump of ice the size of a quart bowl to keep it cool; put into a tin pail with a tight cover, and it is a very good field drink, and will keep cool half a day.

Another drink is made by taking a lemon or two, roll or squeeze till soft, slice very thin and put into a large bowl, and turn a pint of boiling water over the slices. Let it stand till cool; then allow a quart of water to each lemon, and half a cupful of sugar; stir well, and add a lump of ice, to make it very cold. The acid of the lemon is very grateful to the mouth and stomach on a hot day. All iced drinks should be sipped slowly, as they quench the thirst better, and do not give a chill, as if taken in large swallows and great quantities.

Still another drink is prepared by taking two eggs, beat thoroughly till frothy, add half a teacupful of sugar, a teaspoonful of extract of vanilla and a quart of milk; cool with ice. It is very delicious and strengthening on a hot day. Another one is made by taking a teacupful of raspberry jam, stir it into three pints of water, strain it through a fine colander, and set in the ice chest till very cold; it is a very pleasant beverage. For hay pitchers, nothing excels good coffee, as it stimulates a little and seems to raise sufficient internal heat, so that perspiration flows freely and keeps up the strength.

Refreshing drinks are a very great comfort during the summer heat, and give much nourishment to the system, as one is not very apt to feel hungry in the long summer days when the thermometer ranges from 60° to 100° in the shade. The more a person drinks the more he perspires; yet one cannot help craving some palatable beverage to cool the parched lips and mouth in the heat of summer.—It is much better to take little at a time, and to drink more frequently, than to quaff a great quantity at a time. Frequent bathing of the face and head is a great preventive of thirst. Men are not half so liable to get overheated if they occasionally wipe off their faces with a wet towel or sponge. People do not take half the pains to protect themselves from the heat of dog days that they do to guard against the inclemency of cold, and there is double the danger arising from overheating that there is from freezing.—Country Gentleman.

O. M. MOORE, EDITOR & PROPRIETOR.

Will the Good Templars' Lodges in this county at their next meeting discuss the question whether it is the duty of its members to support the prohibition candidate or not. We desire to hear from some member of every Lodge on this question; what does Bro. Moore say?—Farmington Herald.

This:—

That you, Bro. Whiting, as Lodge Deputy, of Farmington Lodge, Good Templars, forget yourself, or show you are not posted on the work of the order. The order of Good Templars is as far from a political machine, as is the Church. Its mission is to raise the fallen and keep the young from falling into the snares of vice and intemperance. The by-laws strictly prohibit the discussion of political or sectarian questions; and yet, you, a guardian of your lodge, request the lodges of the county to "discuss at their next meeting," the present political question!

If a minister of the gospel gives out a political hint during his sermon, you condemn him at once. If we forget not, you berated, some time since, the introduction of a politician before a reunion of army boys, at Lewiston, and thought it a miserable Republican trick. Now you would prostitute the Good Templars' Lodges by introducing four-cornered political questions, knowing well that their lodges are made up of all parties, yet knowing none in their meetings. You would blast the good these lodges have accomplished, and cause every one of them to surrender or forfeit their charters by introducing a subject totally foreign to the object of the order.

The Good Templars of this county should never think of discussing this or any political question in their meetings; but when they vote, we'll risk them to vote for the man, who, whether Republican, Greenback or Prohibition candidate, will best serve the interests of the temperance cause; such a man as has long been identified in the temperance cause of Maine, and whose views have long been known upon the great question. We hope very few, if any, Good Templars will be deluded into throwing away their tickets for any high-sounding name, or candidate who can not possibly be elected, but a vote for whom will but help another whose party principles have never been for temperance.

As a temperance man and Good Templar, of more years than we have been permitted to vote, we unhesitatingly announce that our vote will be thrown for both the Truth and Temperance, and our Standard bearer has never trailed the red, white and blue of Temperance in the dust, but will ever fly it high among other sterling principles, and his name is NELSON DINGLEY, JR.

The Kansas Journal, formerly the ablest Republican paper in the State of Kansas, has come out squarely for the Greenback party.

Some of our people are thinking the above mentioned paper is the Kansas City (Mo.) Journal, of which A. J. Blethen, Esq., is business manager; but it is not so.

The Phillips PHONOGRAPH has added a book store and a circulating library to its establishment and under the heading of "Good reading," advertisers such literature as follows: "Capt. Volcano, the man of the Red Revolver," Alapatha, the squaw, or the Renegades of the Border," "Alabama Joe, or the Yazoo Man Hunter," etc., etc. The PHONOGRAPH man is evidently working up business and if he doesn't have some high toned crimes up that way to record it will be because the books advertised have not met with a ready sale.—Somerset Reporter.

"A guilty conscience needs no accuser!" We've really looked for such an item, for a week or two. We are running a news stand, and these books named, and all their class, are of the stock bought in a lump, when we bought out the business. We do not order any of these books, except when requested so to do. We have but one customer for them any way, and this speaks well for Phillips. We have never read this class of literature, and have taken occasion repeatedly to advise boys from reading it, when making purchases here. Thank you, Bro. Reporter, for the warning—the "blood and thunder" stuff has been consigned to the rag-bag, and defaced so that even the rag-picker can't read it.

✂ A proposition to new subscribers: We shall keep a strict account of new subscriptions received during August, and for the week in which the largest number of new subscriptions are received, we propose and agree to give one-half the amount received for such subscriptions to the widow of the late Mr. Raymond, of Rangeley, whose death was caused by the accident at the building of the church. Subscriptions will be announced as received, and the money paid over the first day of September. Summer visitors at the Lakes should take this opportunity, to obtain the paper (8 pages, and 4 page Extra, weekly) and do a good deed of charity at the same time.

✂ On the recent excursion of the Press Association, it was our good pleasure to meet J. G. Rich, of Bethel, trapper and guide. He has occasionally graced our columns with readable communications, and we hope will do so again. He kindly sends us an account of the trip down the lakes via. Andover, but we had already made up our account from other sources. He has our thanks all the same.

✂ Monday morning next, with the other two-thirds of the family, we shall start on a trip to Machias, via. Skowhegan, Bangor and Ellsworth, and shall be gone a fortnight. We go in company with Mr. and Mrs. J. Harvey Conant, of Strong. Our office will be left in charge of Mr. E. N. Carver, who will attend to business matters, job work, etc.

✂ The Maine State Fair occurs in Lewiston, Sept. 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th—Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday—in conjunction with the Androscoggin County Agricultural Society. It promises to be one of the grandest meetings of the Society ever held.

✂ The President is still rapidly improving, and has already commenced to sign public documents. His improvement now is wholly encouraging.

—Mr. and Mrs. Sam'l Harrington, Geo. H. Lent, Geo. W. Snow, of Boston; Dr. H. G. Miller and wife, of Providence, R. I.; J. K. Clark, Miss A. Williams and Miss F. A. Wetmore, of New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Leeds, of Hoboken, N. J., are now boarding at the Elmwood.

Occasional Letter from Rangeley.

RANGELEY Me. Aug 9th 1881,

Dear Phono.—Affairs in this vicinity during the last two weeks assumed a more lively aspect. Quite an agreeable change after the general dullness of July. Summer boarders have been flocking in to the different hotels together with a host of fishermen and tourists, the press excursionists coming under the latter heading. But little fishing was done last week on account of the intense heat. A few ventured out, but it was a noticeable fact that their stay was short.

Sunday the weather changed, and since then in has been agreeably cool, and fires in the large fire-places have been in demand evenings.

Esty's is full; Mountain View nearly so; about a dozen at Burke's, and a few at Richardson's, the Oquossoc and the Association.

Notwithstanding the heat, several good catches have been made lately, noticeably among which were those of Sherburne Lawrence and son, of South Gardiner. These two gentlemen with guide caught one day a handsome string of five fish, among which were two four-pounders, and a few days afterward a string of thirteen, including one five-pounder, one four and from that weight downward.

"Uncle Jerry" Ellis with a party of young men, whose names were not learned, have been having good luck, succeeding in capturing good numbers daily, among which were not a few large ones.

Dr. Mason of Providence, with wife, staying at Mountain View, caught one day this week eleven good-sized fish, one weighing nearly five pounds.

All of the above mentioned catches were on the "Big Lake," which seems to be the favorite fishing-place at this time of year.

There is excellent fishing in Oquossoc Lake, however; two young gentlemen from the village caught twenty good-sized ones near Ram Island, one day recently. The pond fishing is also good this year. At Quimby's are Gen. Washburn and Mr. Goodnow, who look after the fish-amous Quimby Pond. Several others have been boarding at "Quimby's" and we presume he has as usual had his general good number. We understand that Gen. Washburn makes a trip to Comanckag soon.

At "Haley's" Long Pond, Mr. Kensell, of firm of Kensell, Tabor & Co. of Portland, and a gentleman from Saco have been spending a few days. They have also been favored with good luck catching one day twenty-six, among which were several two-pounders. Long Pond is not much fished and we think it would pay the sportsman to give it a try. We have not heard of any large-sized fish being caught here, but two-pounders are not uncommon and a good-sized string is generally sure to reward a patient effort.

The shooting season has not, of course, commenced, as yet, but Dr. Brooks, staying at Richardson's, yesterday succeeded in killing one of the handsomest loons that has been shot in these regions within memory of "oldest inhabitant." It was a male bird in full plumage, and as the ball struck in the back of the head causing instant death, the feathers were unstained with blood and were preserved in perfect condition. It was an excellent shot.

Among the many arrivals last week was Mr. David Blanchard, of Boston, who as usual goes to Mountain View. Mr.

Blanchard has been an annual visitor to these lakes for many years and usually succeeds in capturing the "big trout" of the season; so after he gets in fighting trim and settled down to business we shall probably be able to furnish you with an item worth recording.

At Rangeley Lake House we notice a party from Baltimore booked and another from Kansas. The fame of the Rangeley's is extending. At the latter house a large number dine daily and the square in front about noon each day is one of the busiest places that can be found outside of a city. The numerous teams arriving and departing for Kennebag, together with the Phillips stages and groups of fishermen both going in and coming out, with their guides make it an interesting scene to look upon from the wide piazza.

Kennebago is crowded, and as usual, every one is getting all the trout they want. The "Forest Retreat House" and camps are alike full and as fast as one party departs another is ready to step in to their place. The travel to this lake and the Seven Ponds so far this year is unprecedented.

For social amusements we have moonlight excursions, candy pulls, and a dance at the village is rumored to take place soon. The ladies employ their time with fancy work and the gentlemen smoke and play cards, as is customary at all summer resorts. Every one enjoys himself in the way which best suits him and time flies quickly. This seems to be all the news "up to the present time." Anyway we have given you all we have heard of and will endeavor to do so again at no distant date. Yours Truly, R

✂ Being at Augusta recently, myself and Mellie V., took a leisurely ride down the river through those pleasant cities to Gardiner, where we found Dr. F. A. Kimball and his cheerful wife in excellent spirits and pleasantly situated, with every promise of success. A look at his books fully satisfied us that our prediction of him when entering that field was true, that an eye to business, with him, was a guaranty of success, and his increasing business, that too among many of the first families in the city, gives evidence of making him among the first of the eleven physicians there. The Dr. and myself, with his nimble steed, spent an hour in a pleasant ride over that retired and pleasant city. With a pleasant office, a convenient residence not far away, and an ability unquestioned, the many friends of the Dr. and Mrs. K., will be glad to know that he seems to be working into an excellent practice. S. S. W.

The Farmington Chronicle remarked the other day that no one could run a newspaper these times without the aid of the telegraph. Then the next week it came out and announced that Mr. Chadbourne had been drowned, the paper being issued three days after the reported drowning had been corrected. It would seem that a good reliable weekly mail would help that journal as much as anything.—Somerset Reporter.

—When folks go-a-fishing, of course their friends desire to peep into the basket on the return. Well, some folks from the Barden returned the other day, and a little minx took a basket in the room where gents and ladies were playing cards. Opening the cover to "let 'em see," an enormous fog jumped plump on the table! "Who played that?" One lady remarked that she did not like her frog soup quite so rare done, and she retired from the scene, and the frog played a lone hand on the rest of the game. A miss-deal!

—A few days of hay weather, since the cold snap.

Local Notes.

—The moon is just gorgeous.

—Wm. Bangs advertises stray cattle, in his pasture.

—Some of the young folks have a picnic in Bradbury's grove this Friday afternoon.

—The Augusta horse that died here last week, was cut open and found to be greatly troubled with bots.

—The gentleman who can "hallo" is at Rangeley. Listen, and you may hear him when he returns. X.

—The widow Morse, mother of Mrs. Ira Fuller, died a few days since and was buried in East Dixfield.

—E. D. Prescott and his party have returned from the seashore, where they had a very enjoyable season.

—Col. R. G. Usher, Henry Ward and Alfred Cross, Lynn, Mass., are spending a few days at the Elmwood.

—Every night for a week past the Elmwood has been crowded and running over into the neighboring houses.

—Mr. and Mrs. Page, of the Elmwood, spent a few days at Old Orchard and Portland the first of the week.

—Attention is invited to the advertisement of L. T. Wade, of Farmington. He has a specialty in spectacles.

—Phillips Savings Bank Statement, published in another column, shows a surplus, over all liabilities of $2470.49.

—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Noble, who have been spending some time here with their son, N. P., returned to their home in Minot, Wednesday.

—W. D. Badger and family, who have spent a few weeks here with their relatives, return this week to their home in Centralia, Wis.

—F. S. Farwell and E. V. Granger, of Rhode Island, who have been stopping at the Elmwood, took over two hundred brook trout one day this week.

—Mr. Farmer, his family and the several boarders at the Barden House, spend the day (Friday) at the cascades, above Madrid, near Wm. Smalls.

—It is stated by good authority, that were our railroad earning but $10.00 a day more than at present, shares would be worth $40.00—par value $50.00.

—We reprint the remainder of the Press excursion report, from the Extra, that all our subscribers may get it. The report was put in type without first writing it.

—Two young gentlemen from Augusta—F. A. Munsey, manager W. U. Tel. Co., and J. H. Plummer, clerk for E. C. Allen & Co.—called at our office Wednesday evening. They were on their way to the lakes.

—W. E. Plummer, of Portland, and Geo. A. French, went to Perham Stream, Wednesday, and returned with 224 trout—Geo. catching 110, and Plummer 114. Mr. and Mrs. Plummer returned to Portland Thursday. The fishermen have our thanks for a basketful of trout.

—Last Tuesday, as a pair of Wm. Howland's horses were grazing in the road at Howland's crossing, they were frightened by the locomotive, and ran upon the barbed wire fence, in such a manner as to tear themselves in a terrible manner. It is possible that he may lose one or both of them.

—Our attention was called one day recently, to a place beside the sidewalk, where a couple of large bugs had dug a hole and buried a dead toad. The toad was of fair size, yet the bugs would move him alone, and when his grave was dug, pulled him in and covered him up completely.

—It was a pleasant party from Saratoga, N. Y., that registered at the Elmwood last Monday—consisting of A. C. Chase, Postmaster of that city, Dr. H. D. Didama, Rev. A. F. Beard and E. Beard. They were on their way to the "famous fishing grounds of Maine" and are to return by the way of Andover.

—Wednesday a good old lady called in and said she had been sending the paper to her "two boys" in the far West for six months, and now she guessed she would stop them, and the boys could now pay for the paper if they wanted it. So they were stopped; but next morning in comes the good mother with a dollar-bill from one of her boys, having received it the day before, he remarking that "she had paid for it long enough"—and he couldn't very well get along without it, you see. Well, it was simply a coincidence. His picture, by the way, was in the letter, and his elder brother didn't recognize it.

—Boys of a larger growth are flying kites now-a-days in Phillips. Thursday, folks at the Barden, and some of our people to assist, put up a large kite which was let out to the extent of three large balls of strong twine. It reached nearly to the railroad bridge. It was very appropriate that the barber should assist to razor, while the PHONO-man was requested to supply more "wind." The dentist "pulled" too hard on the line, and executed a difficult backward somersault.—The small boys, the old boys, the little girls and old gals all seemed to enjoy the sport.

—At the last meeting of Phillips Lodge of Good Templars, the following officers were installed by O. M. Moore, P.W.C.T.: W. C. T.—Edgar N. Carver. R. H. S.—Rosa E. Perry. L. H. S.—Lucy Bean. W. V. T.—Lizzie S. Bangs. F. S.—J. P. D. Jones. Treas.—Ida Butler. Chap.—F. S. Farmer. I. G.—Caddie Williams. O. G.—Frank W. Lawry.

The Secretary, O. M. Moore, and the Marshal, Charles H. Fuller, were not installed. The lodge is about to take measures for the betterment of the cause and the lodge in particular. All the members are requested to attend the next meeting.

News of the Week.

Yellow fever is increasing in Havana and in the vessels in the harbor. There were 31 deaths last week.—Strawberries have been sent from Quebec to the President on a telegraphic order from Secretary Blaine.—Maud S trotted a heat at Buffalo, Thursday in 2.103.4.—Neal Dow spoke at a temperance convention at Saratoga, Thursday.—Nineteen counties out of eighty-eight were represented in a prohibition convention at Columbus, Ohio.—The improvement in the condition of the President was celebrated Friday, in Nevada City by a military parade and drill.—The principle portion of the small town of Covels, in Round Valley, Cal., was burned Thursday night. Loss over $55,000, mainly business property. Partly insured.—A dispatch from Grass Valley, says that the first artillery battalion of militia had a sham battle. In a bayonet charge to take a fort, the militia became excited and before the struggle was over several commissioned officers and some twenty or thirty men were wounded by the bayonets, powder and bullets of the guns, but none seriously however.—A warrant has been issued for the arrest of ex-Secretary George Stuart, of Brooklyn board of education, for defalcation.—In a fight relative to drinks, Wm. Lee, of Littleton, N. C., cut John W. Greene's throat and Greene shot Lee dead. Greene is a merchant in Petersburg, Va.—Several houses in Bangor and vicinity were struck by lightning and damaged seriously during a heavy shower late Saturday night.—A Pioneer special from Pine Ridge agency, Neb., says that Crow Dog, captain of the police at Rose Bud agency, shot and instantly killed Spotted Tail. There has been ill feeling between them for some time. Crow Dog went to Fort Miobara to remain until further developments. Trouble is anticipated.—The body of a man about 25 years of age washed ashore at Crow Point near Mispec. In the pockets was found a baggage check "Boston to Calais, Me.," and a handkerchief of peculiar design.—The post office at West Deer Isle, Hancock county, Me., has been discontinued.—Three men escaped from jail at Springfield, Mass., Saturday.—A party of ladies and gentlemen belonging in Bradley, were camping out on an island in Pushaw Pond, seven miles above Bangor, Saturday night, during a terrible storm. When the storm was at its height a tree fell crushing on the tent. One lady, named Mrs. Spencer, had a leg badly broken above the ankle. The others escaped injury. The party were obliged to remain on the island until daylight, when the lady was conveyed home.—E. H. Elliott, of Skowhegan, had his farm buildings in Canaan totally destroyed by fire Friday night, including thirty tons of hay, harness and farming tools. Chas. Burrill, occupying the house, loss $200 on his furniture. No insurance. Elliott's loss $2,200; insured for $1,300. Defective chimney.—Chas. Reed, son of Horace Reed, sixteen years old, was caught in a nigger chain at Webster's mill, Orono, wound up around the shaft and horribly mangled. He died in a few minutes.—Two men spoke at the Chicago meeting of Irishmen, Monday and subscribed $5,000 each.—Parker, who committed the assault on Mrs. Bull in the Adirondacks, was arrested again Saturday, and resisting was probably fatally shot.—Nathaniel Boynton, of North Limington, was found dead in his pasture. Supposed cause, heart disease. Aged about sixty-five years.—While crossing a railroad track on Staten Island, Aug. 9, in light carriage the horse became frightened, stood still and the locomotive smashed the horse and carriage to pieces, instantly killing Mrs. Louise Farber, of Manchester, Vt., and Miss Leone Homan, throwing them over 40 feet in the air; fatally injuring Mrs. Amasa Higgins and slightly injuring Mrs. Homan, the mother of Miss Leone.—Chas. Curry beat Nathan Prettyman to death in Cincinnati, because he would not permit him to court his daughter.—A dispatch says fifteen regulators rode into Grayson, Kentucky, last Saturday and attempted to assume control. Three of them were killed and four captured.—Nearly the whole business portion of Pawnee, Neb. has been burned.—Four colored babies have been entered in the State Fair baby show.

Terrible Accident

Necessitating a Surgical Operation—Loving Mother Attempts to take Pair of Shears from her child.
PARENTS BE CAREFUL.

Domestic accidents are common to women, and some of them are very serious. Mrs. Warner, of South Rondout, N. Y., some weeks ago attempted to take from her child a pair shears with which it was playing. A slight struggle ensued, in which the point of the shears entered Mrs. Warner's left eye, entirely destroying the sight. Her family physician did what he could, but intensely painful inflammation arose, which, by sympathy, threatened the loss of the other eye. Total blindness to a woman having the care of a household is an irretrievable calamity. In this strait Mrs. W.—applied to the well-known and skillful Surgeon, Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who removed the injured eye by a very successful operation, setting aside all danger of further harm to the other eye. But, owing to pain and mental distress, her system needed a tonic and restorative medicine. To do this work the Doctor prescribed "Kennedy's Favorite Remedy," which sustained its reputation and laid a sure foundation for health.

Dr. Kennedy's "Favorite Remedy" removes all impurities from the blood, regulates the Liver and Kidneys. Cures Constipation, and all diseases and weaknesses peculiar to Females. It is for sale by all our druggists at ONE DOLLAR a bottle. 4349

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating, sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 5000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicines for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the highest medals ever given for porous plasters.

Fun and Physic.

The following startling announcement figures in the window of a cafe at Paris: "Here we spike the English."

That was a wise man, who, speaking of the happiness of married people, said, "Dat 'ar 'pends altogether on how dey enjoy demselves."

IMPORTANT TO TRAVELERS.—Special inducements are offered you by the BURLINGTON ROUTE. It will pay you to read their advertisement to be found elsewhere in this issue. 40t28

"S-a-a-y, father, I learned something new at school to-day." "What was it?" "I learned to say 'Yes, sir,' and 'No, sir.'" "Did you?" "Y-a-a-s."

If you see a notice in a country paper, headed "A Wonderful Escape from Death" you may know that he was cured by ELIXIR OF LIFE ROOT, the Banner Kidney Remedy.

After the choir in one of the churches in Ithaca, N. Y., had performed a rather heavy selection, the minister opened the Bible and began reading in Acts xx, "And after the uproar had ceased."

HAVE WISTAR'S BALM OF WILD CHERRY always on hand. It cures Coughs, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Influenza, Cough, Consumption, and all Throat and Lung Complaints. 50 cents and $1 per bottle. 1y52

It now transpires that the unfortunate dogs on the island in Whirlpool Rapids, Niagara, have been placed there to elicit sympathy, draw crowds, and put money in the pockets of heartless ruffians.

WHY ARE YOU BILIOUS?—Because you have allowed your bowels to become costive, and liver torpid. Use Kidney-Wort to produce a free state of the bowels, and it will stimulate the liver to proper action, cleanse the skin of its yellowness, cure bilious headache, and cause new life in the blood. Druggists have it, both dry and liquid.—Zion's Herald.

A doctor recently reproved a friend for his too liberal use of absinthe. "Bah!" said the latter, "I've drunk of it since I was a boy, and I'm sixty." "Very likely," replied the doctor; "but if you had never drunk of it, perhaps you would now be seventy."

FRUIT of the tropic's burning clime,
Thy wondrous virtues, fadeless still,
Exert an influence sublime,
In ministering to human ill; 4t46
And many a pang along our way
Sanford's Jamaica Ginger doth allay.

One of a Cincinnati judge's reasons for refusing to grant a divorce to a man was that he had taken his wife "from the domestic circle and launched her into the midst of iniquities which surround the path of a comely and youthful female in a business life requiring travel and frequent contact with worldly people." In other words, he had sent her out as a book-agent.

NATURE'S SLUICE-WAY.—The kidneys are nature's sluice-way to wash out the debris of our constantly changing bodies. If they do not work properly the trouble is felt everywhere. Then be wise and as soon as you see signs of disorder get a package of Kidney-Wort and take it faithfully. It will clean the sluice-way of sand, gravel or slime and purify the whole system. Druggists sell it both liquid and dry, and it is equally efficient either way. —Independent.

A prominent physician was awakened from his slumbers late the other night by a messenger and taken in haste to the bedside of an old lady for whom he had prescribed the day previous. "Doctor," said the aged patient, ignoring his attempt to feel her pulse, and grasping his hand firmly, "I sent for you to tell you how grateful I am to you. That medicine you gave me is just the thing. I knew you must be too anxious about its results to sleep, and I couldn't sleep till I had sent for you and told you myself how awfully obliged I am to you!"
